NDIS Management Options

You are able to choose three different ways to manage your NDIS plan. You can choose one or a combination of these management options for different parts of your plan. Your three options are:

1. Self Management

3. Agency Management

Self Management

- Self management is when you have total control and responsibility for managing the money (funding) and supports in your plan.
- You get your funding (payment requests) from the NDIS and pay your supports and services.

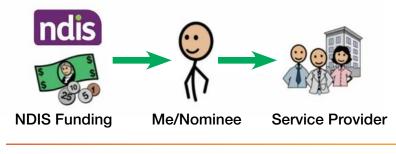

Plan Management

- Plan management is when you get a Plan Manager to get your funding (payment requests) from the NDIS and pay your supports and services for you.
- Your Plan Manager needs to be registered with the NDIS.
- If you have a Plan Manager, then additional money (funding) will be in your plan to pay your Plan Manager for their services.

Agency Management

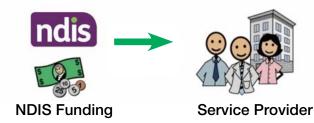

- Agency management is when the NDIS pays your service providers for you.
- Your service providers are responsible for getting funding (payment request) from the NDIS to cover the cost of the supports and services they provide you.
